Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Livers is an international open-access journal that provides an advanced platform for basic, translational, and clinical research in the multi-disciplinary field of hepatology. Livers adheres to rigorous peer-review and efficient publication process and publishes only high quality manuscripts that address important issues covering all aspects of liver and biliary sciences.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Hartmut W. Jaeschke

Aims

Livers (ISSN 2673-4389) is an international, scientific, and open access journal that provides a platform for basic, translational, and advanced clinical research in the multi-disciplinary field of hepatology. It publishes reviews, original research articles, communications, perspectives, brief/case reports, and editorials. Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their theoretical and experimental results in as much detail as possible. We also aim to gather the latest, most relevant studies and case series with accompanying systematic literature reviews for instant dissemination in the field of hepatology. There is no restriction on the maximum length of the papers, as full experimental and methodological details, as applicable, must be provided in order that the results can be reproduced.

Scope

Topics of interest with a view towards liver and biliary sciences include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Hepatitis (all forms);
- Alcoholic liver disease;
- Nonalcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD) and non-alcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH);
- Liver cirrhosis;
- Biliary diseases;
- Drug-induced liver injury;
- Genetic and metabolic liver diseases and their complications;
- Liver cancer and drug metabolism;
- Hepatocellular carcinoma;
- Liver fibrosis;
- Immunology in hepatology;
- Nutrition in hepatology;
- Pathology in hepatology;
- Diagnosis and therapy in hepatology.
