Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The Journal of Aesthetic Medicine is an open access MDPI publication which serves as an international platform for publishing innovative research and advanced clinical practice in aesthetic medicine. The journal accepts original research articles, comprehensive reviews, and clinical studies that present innovative aesthetic techniques involving energy-based devices, regenerative approaches, and injectable treatments. The journal ensures the quality of its publications through its strict and rigorous peer-review process. As an open access journal, we provide unrestricted access to scientific knowledge. We aim to share discoveries widely to all professionals, including readers who want to expand their expertise. The Journal of Aesthetic Medicine will serve as an innovation driver through its support of high-quality research and its promotion of new trends in the field.

Editor-in-Chief
